FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Loyola Recovery Foundation Selects Core Solutions for Electronic Health Records

Core's Experience and Modern EHR Technology Makes Cx360 the Product of Choice for Loyola

King of Prussia, PA – July 9, 2015 – Loyola Recovery Foundation, an organization that provides addiction services to Veterans and their families, announced the selection of Core Solutions, Inc. to configure and implement Cx360, an enterprise Electronic Health Records (EHR) platform. This selection was made after an extensive review of EHR solutions.

Loyola's leadership team identified Core Solutions' Cx360 as the best fit to help the organization achieve its EHR objectives of improving care coordination, information sharing and improving process efficiencies. The modern architecture of the solution and its intuitive interface will allow Loyola to realize these objectives, while supporting its unique care delivery model.

"With Core Solutions, we discovered a solution in Cx360 that stood apart from other EHR options available," said George Basher, CEO at Loyola Recovery Foundation. "We looked long and hard at a number of possible EHR solutions. Cx360 provided the most flexibility and offers us an excellent product with the behavioral health focus we require."

"We are truly honored to work with an industry leader like Loyola and support their honorable mission to provide services to veterans and their families," said Rachna Bagdi, Chief Operating Officer at Core Solutions.
